Table 1. Summary of the NWR's Strategic Plan for 2022-2026

Strategic Priorities	Goals	Projects	Years
Convene partners including all four orders of government, and support collaboration	• Bring together diverse people and perspectives to work on common goals	• Annual Meetings and Spring Technical Meetings • Working Groups (Youth Engagement, Lakes Monitoring) • Online library of information and resources (digital protal)	• All ongoing 2022-2026 • Ongoing • Expand 2022 or 2023
Support efforts to restore watershed health	• Identify common priorities and actions to address them • Support efforts that restore health of lands, waters, and ecosystems in the Nechako • Support sharing of and access to information and resources	• Lakes Monitoring Working Group • A sub-watershed restoration pilot project with First Nations • Best practices for managing riparian areas • Online library of information and resources (digital portal)	• Ongoing • Scoping underway, Initiate 2022 • Initiate 2022 or 2023 • Expand 2022 or 2023
Advocate for the watershed	• Advocate for the watershed with all orders of government, and diverse groups benefitting from land and water resources	• Provincial land use and resource management planning processes • Responsive engagement to emerging watershed issues	• 2022 (TBD by province) • Ongoing
Advance reconcilliation	• Advance reconciliation with First Nations in NWR activities and collaborations • Collaborate with Indigenous Nations and Peoples to uphold the UNDRIP	• A sub-watershed restoration pilot project with First Nations • Online library of information and resources	• Scoping underway, Initiate 2022 • Expand 2022 or 2023
Ensure a resilient organization	• Consider governance options to support NWR goals • Maintain a strong and diverse organization with sufficient funding and resources • Implement the strategic plan	• Governance options under the Water Sustainability Act and/or the BC Societies Act • Core Committee activities: Annual Meetings, Spring Technical meetings, securing human and financial resources • Core Committee - monitoring	• Initiate 2022 or 2023 • Ongoing • Ongoing